"Raising Children for God: The Call of Christian Education"

Dear beloved in Christ,

As we step into this beautiful month of November—a time of thanksgiving and reflection—it is fitting to remember one of the greatest blessings entrusted to us: our children. They are the future of our families, our church, and our nation. Yet more importantly, they are the heritage of the Lord (Psalm 127:3). The way we nurture and train them today will determine the spiritual health of the next generation.

In Judges 13, we read how the angel of the Lord appeared to Manoah and his wife to announce the birth of Samson. God Himself gave them detailed instructions on how to raise the child—what he should eat, how he should live, and what his mission would be. This shows us that God is deeply interested in the upbringing of our children. Every child is born with a divine purpose, and it is our sacred duty—parents, teachers, and the church community—to guide them toward that purpose.

The Crisis of Our Time

We live in an age where the knowledge of God is fading. Society celebrates what is evil and mocks what is good. We are witnessing a generation growing up without God, even among those who call themselves Christians. In America, our religious and moral foundations are being shaken. “In God we trust” has become a slogan rather than a conviction.

Modern education often excludes the Creator from His own creation. Universities and schools promote philosophies that deny absolute truth. Corrupted media and Godless ideologies are shaping the hearts and minds of our young people. The line between right and wrong has become blurred. Isaiah’s warning has come true: “Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil” (Isaiah 5:20).

The Call of the Church

In such a time, the Sunday School is not a small or secondary ministry—it is the heartbeat of the Church. It is in those humble classrooms that faith is first planted, where the life of Jesus come alive, where prayer becomes natural, and where the Word of God becomes the foundation of life.

We need dedicated teachers who are not merely instructors, but spiritual mentors—men and women who live what they teach. Teaching Sunday School is not just a duty; it is a divine calling. To shape a child’s heart for Christ is one of the highest forms of service in the Kingdom of God.

Parents too must realize that Christian education is not the church’s job alone. It begins at home—through family prayers, Bible reading, and godly example. When home and church work together, children grow strong in faith and wisdom. Remember, “The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom” (Proverbs 9:10).

The Way Forward

If we truly want to rebuild our homes, our churches, and our nation, we must go back to the Bible. We must go back to Jesus. Only by depending on His grace can we overcome the confusion of this world. The Word of God must again become the center of our families and the standard of our education.

Let us pray for our Sunday school children—that they may grow “in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.” Let us encourage our teachers and parents to stand firm in their mission. And let every child know that obedience to God’s Word brings life, light, and blessing.

May our parish be known as a place where children love Jesus, where families walk in faith, and where the Word of God is taught and lived.

Joe Achen.

October: A Month of Blessings and Fellowship

As we look back, October 2025 was truly a month filled with the grace and goodness of God.

On October 3 & 4, our parish organized a church tour to Arkansas and Branson. It was a time of great joy and fellowship. Thank you to all who participated and made it a memorable spiritual journey.

Our Annual Bible Convention, held on October 17 and 18, was another time of spiritual renewal. We were blessed to have Mr. Joy Pullad from Kerala as our guest speaker. Members from the Mar Thoma Church and CSI Elmhurst Church also joined us, enriching our fellowship.

On October 19, we joyfully celebrated our 41st Parish Day together with Choir Sunday—a truly memorable occasion of worship and thanksgiving. The music and unity of the day reminded us of God's faithfulness through all these years.

On October 26 (Sunday), we observed Youth Sunday, during which Mr. Ranjan Mathew, son of Rajan Mathew, delivered the Word of God, and Mr. Shane Joy led the worship with great devotion.

Finally, on October 29 (Wednesday), the Golden Age Fellowship coordinated a special outreach with Feed My Starving Children, followed by a fellowship lunch. It was a wonderful act of love and service, reflecting the compassion of Christ.

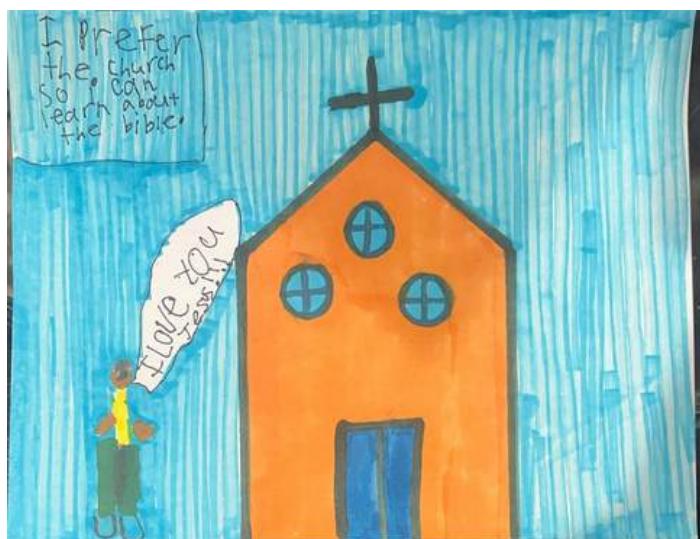

Indeed, the month of October was filled with blessings, fellowship, and joy. We thank God for His grace upon our parish and for every member who participated and served in various ways.

Rev. Joe
